The NFHS and the SRS show that about 70% infant deaths in Uttar Pradesh happen within the first 29 days of life (neonatal mortality) and over 50% happens within the first couple of days of life (early neonatal mortality). Moreover, the UPTSU's Rolling Facility Survey (round 4) reports that 46% of the babies they observed were between 1800-2500 grams. While babies below the 1800-gram mark get admitted in the SNCU, those above the mark remain in the wards with their mother. My previous work with the Queen Mary's hospital at KGMU showed that even though such babies needed special care, their mother and family members did not see the importance of exclusive breastfeeding, thermoregulation, and kangaroo mother care (KMC).

I would like to pursue a project to understand CARE PRACTICES FOR NEWBORN AND LOW BIRTHWEIGHT BABIES IN A SMALL REGION IN UTTAR PRADESH. I would also investigate how counseling of parents at the newborn stage can improve health. Meeting parents in the hospital will allow me to pilot messages about newborn care and hence I am seeking your support to speak with new parents in the health facilities, specifically Sitapur DWH.

I am also preparing for further PhD studies in Public Health/Population Research, and I have been advised to work in Sitapur district by my mentor. In this work I would be assisted in speaking with new mothers by Ms. Lovey Pant, Ms. Krishna Shree, and local (female) research associates if need be. We do not expect any financial support from you, and we would also like to assure you that we will not be causing disruptions in the function of the facilities.

Thank You!

Yours sincerely,

Nikhil
